

WATCH IT: Gnarlz Barkley "Who's Gonna Save My Soul"

Good afternoon, heartbreak. This is for all the girls who broke your heart. Dumped you at the diner. Left you there in shock as she prattled on about all the reasons it's not you, but her, utterly ruining your cheeseburger deluxe, your day and possibly even your life. Director Chris Milk takes us to that situation and brings the emotions to life with this heart-wrenching and very unusual, very morbid and very genius performance video for Gnarlz Barkley. I'd rather not totally ruin the surprise, so let's just say that fans of Michigan J. Frog and, uh, open heart surgery should be pleased.--> watch "Who's Gonna Save My Soul" via Quicktime or hi-res YouTube

Gnarlz Barkley

"Who's Gonna Save My Soul" (Downtown/Atlantic)

Chris Milk, director | Anne Johnson, producer | @radical.media, production co | Danny Hiele, DP | Livio Sanchez @ filmcore, editor | Zach Matthews, prod. designer | Gradient Effects, fx + animation | Image Metrics, mouth animation | Dave Hussey, telecine

July 25, 2008 in Atlantic, Downtown, New Releases - 2008.07 July, Radical Media | Permalink